Paper sessions involve three conceptually linked papers. Each presentation lasts approximately 20 minutes, followed by 10 minutes for questions and discussion. Paper sessions are scheduled for 90 minutes, following the format above. A chair will be assigned to each paper session to moderate the discussion and keep the time. Projectors will be provided in each room. Please make sure to bring adaptors as needed.

When your submission has been accepted as a paper presentation as JURE 2019, you are requested to prepare a full paper (3000 to 6000 words) along with an updated abstract and submit both for the second review round by 3rd April 2019 (midnight CEST). This abstract will be published in the conference programme. Please make sure that your name should not be stated on the paper or in the abstract that are submitted for the second review round (it should of course be for the conference).

Below you can find guidelines for writing a full paper, containing the following information:

Title: The shortest but still informative summary of the paper (max. 100 characters.

Abstract: An abstract is a summary of the entire paper. It should be accurate, self-contained, non-evaluative, coherent, and readable.

Keywords: 4 central keywords.

Theoretical background: The central information about the theory is given in an adequate literature review (only citations relevant to the topic should be given). The research problem should be presented early. Furthermore, it should be shown how the problem is grounded, shaped, and directed by theory.

Aim/research question/hypothesis: The topic of investigation is clear. Avoid ambiguous research questions. Hypotheses under investigation should be stated explicitly.

Method: An adequate description of methodology is given (sample, design, materials, procedure), which is sufficiently detailed for replication. The research design is appropriate to investigate the research question.

Results: Appropriate statistical techniques or qualitative data analyses are used. Inappropriate statistical analyses (e.g., lack of descriptive measures or unclear order of entry of variables in a regression analysis) should be avoided. If the text contains a large number of statistics, consider putting them into tables or figures. Qualitative analyses should be described comprehensively.

Discussion: Theoretical or practical implications that can be drawn from the study are identified and discussed. Conclusions, which are kept within the boundaries of the findings, are given.

References: List all sources that have been referred to in the paper. Make sure that the references are conform to APA editorial style.

Formatting
Please follow APA guidelines in formatting your full paper!
Your paper should not comprise more than 6000 words. References can either be included in the text box provided for the extended summary, as long as they do not exceed the 6000 word count - otherwise, a list of references can be added as one of three attachments.

Submission

Deadline for submissions is 3rd April 2019 (midnight CEST).
